Relationship to Candidate: Former Business Partner

Denis Benjaminov and I worked together as partners for several years, during which he served as CTO at BrainBankers LLC. In our time collaborating, Denis played a pivotal role in leading the technical direction and execution of several large and complex projects that were critical to the success of our business.

Denis's ability to architect and build scalable solutions while managing diverse teams was key in delivering innovative products that met our business goals. His expertise in system architecture, project management, and team leadership ensured the successful completion of highly complex projects. Denis was instrumental in driving BrainBankers forward, and his leadership directly contributed to the growth of the company.

As a partner and CTO, Denis was not only a brilliant technical mind but also an invaluable collaborator who aligned technology with our broader strategic goals. I highly recommend him for any senior leadership role, as his technical expertise and problem-solving capabilities make him a true asset to any organisation.

Please feel free to contact me for further details.
